“The new program, called NASA At Home, is packed full of activities for kids and families, including e-books, virtual tours and augmented reality, podcasts, “binge-worthy” videos, and an opportunity to be a scientist in your own home.”

AMERICAN EXPERIENCE PBS- PANDEMIC OF 1918

Watch Here

“In September of 1918, soldiers at an army base near Boston suddenly began to die. The cause of death was identified as influenza, but it was unlike any strain ever seen. As the killer virus spread across the country, hospitals overflowed, death carts roamed the streets and helpless city officials dug mass graves. It was the worst epidemic in American history, killing over 600,000 – until it disappeared as mysteriously as it had begun.”

BRENE BROWN- TED TALKS

“Brené Brown is a research professor at the University of Houston Graduate College of Social Work. She has spent more than a decade studying vulnerability, courage, authenticity and shame. She spent the first five years of her decade-long study focusing on shame and empathy, and is now using that work to explore a concept that she calls Wholeheartedness. She poses the questions: How do we learn to embrace our vulnerabilities and imperfections so that we can engage in our lives from a place of authenticity and worthiness? How do we cultivate the courage, compassion and connection that we need to recognize that we are enough -- that we are worthy of love, belonging and joy?”
